Digital Reading or Traditional Reading

These days, the digital reading are becoming more and more popular in our lives. Some people believe that the digital reading will take the place of the traditional reading in few years. In my opinion, the reading market should be divided into two different parts: working books and culture books.

In the working book market, of course, the digital reading will definitely take the place of traditional reading. Looking back the history, as a tool to spread the information, it must become more and more convenient. In the past time, the tortoise shell was taken the place by the bamboo slip which was ^{also} taken the place by paper. So, as for the working books, such as textbooks, documents, business contracts, will be made by digital reading for the digital reading is not only cheaper but also environmentally friendly.

However, in the culture book market, I believe the traditional reading will still dominate the market. Could you image that the Mona Lisa becomes the digital part? Could you image the Starry Night, the wonderful and unbelievable painting by Vincent van Gogh is made by Internet losing the delicate brushwork? As for the literature books, art books, culture books, such as the traditional reading will not be taken the place because the culture in these books, the touch of feeling, the smell of paper and most importantly, the love and pursuit of beauty will not be taken the place.

All in all, in my opinion, the digital reading will take the place in working books market not in culture books market.
